Biography

Philippa qualified as an occupational therapist in 1993 from the University of Cape Town, South Africa. She has specialised in the fields of rehabilitation and case management, work assessments and ergonomics in South Africa, the USA and the UK, working across all age groups. She is particularly experienced in working with clients who have sustained complex orthopaedic fractures, non-unions and crush injuries, amputation (traumatic and elective), and polytrauma injuries, with a high success rate of helping clients back to all facets of daily living, including return to work.

Philippa is a proactive, dedicated and compassionate case manager who resides in Wiltshire, although covers many areas of the UK and the Channel Islands. She is skilled in developing personalised treatment plans and advocating for her clients. She partners with private consultants, specialist musculoskeletal physiotherapists, experienced psychologists and counsellors both locally and remotely and brings a holistic and client-centred approach to every case.

She is also a passionate advocate for using outcome measures and data to enhance clinical practice – not just for reporting, but to drive meaningful change in service delivery, rehabilitation outcomes, and even policy.
